

PUBLIC NOTICES.

Are You Buying or Building a House?

SOMERSETSHIRE AT PRESENT we are arranging Permanent Mortgage Advances on the following Terms:

- I Society PAYS INITIAL LEGAL CHARGES. II SURVEY FEE PAID on accepted business. III BONUS PAID to borrowing members on completion. IIII RATE 4 1/2%

DON'T GROUBE—BUY YOUR OWN HOUSE.

Apply to Local Agents: Mr. C. H. HANNAM, High Street, Street. or the Secretary: F. C. HUCKER, A.S.A., The Archers Way, Glastonbury. Phone 189.

GLASTONBURY BOROUGH SESSION.

TUESDAY.

Before the Mayor (Coun. J. Alexander), Ald. E. M. Baily, Miss A. C. Morland and Coun. C. H. Whitlow.

SPECIAL CONSTABLES.

The following persons attended and were sworn in as special constables for the month of September: Messrs. H. N. Alves, Wm. T. Chamberlain, Francis T. Dowdney, Frank C. Edwards, Albert E. Fry, Frank G. Jones, Norman F. James, Harold R. Mapstone, Sheppard, Robert C. Smith, Robert Sell, Frederick Stacey, Wm. Sweet, Albert E. Trim, S. Alonso Webb and Stanley Cecil Webb.

The Mayor, addressing the special constables, thanked them for attending that morning to be sworn in, and for their past services. Some had been special constables for many years past, and although it was not often that they were available to give their services, they were glad to have their assistance in time of need.

CHILKWEIL CARNIVAL.

A number of the licensees of the town were granted the usual extension of time for the above event on Saturday, November 13th. DOGS CONVICTED OF SHEEP WORRYING. Arthur J. Badman, Army pensioner, of 5, Berkery, Glastonbury, was summoned for being the owner of three dangerous dogs on Sept. 22nd. He was also summoned for being the owner of a dog found on the premises of a shop on a collar with the owner's name and address inscribed thereon on Sept. 23rd. He pleaded guilty, and was fined 10s. for each dog, and costs of two of the dogs.

Francis Thomas Dowdney, butcher, of the Market Place, stated that on the 21st of September he had a mixed lot of sheep in his field off the Station Road at Glastonbury. He missed two ewes and a lamb. He could not find them anywhere. A few days later his attention was called to a dead sheep in a ditch on a farm at Hill Head, which was about half a mile from his shoulders, and appeared to have been worried by a dog. He did not know whose dog it was.

Roland Green said that he was at the top of Wearyall Hill and saw three dogs chasing Mr. Lock's sheep on the 21st of September. Later he found a sheep dead in his field. There were three sheep in the field where he had been chased by the dogs. He had seen one sheep from the others and drove it away. He could not get to them in time to drive them off.

P.C. Keates, now stationed at Ilminster, stated that he was on duty at Glastonbury on the date named, and from information he received he went to the field mentioned by the last witness, and saw in the ditch there a sheep that had been badly bitten on the shoulder. It appeared to have been done recently. There was about two feet of water in the ditch. On September 23rd he was on duty on the Market Street, when a dog was pointed out to him as one of the dogs which had been chasing the sheep. He examined it. There was a collar on the dog, but no name and address on the collar. He saw Mr. Wesley Look, and he stated that he had found a ewe and a lamb with his cows at Middle Moor. He had been informed that dogs had been chasing his sheep. He afterwards saw the defendant, and he admitted that the dog found in Benedict Street was his. When told there was no name on the collar he nor the owner's address he said he thought it was scratched on there somewhere. He admitted the ownership of the dog.

Defendant admitted the dog referred to was his property, and that he had the other two dogs. He had got rid of two of the dogs. One of them now belonged to his son. The Bench made an order for all three dogs to be destroyed, and for the second offence fined the defendant 5s.

FEELING OVER MONEY MATTERS. Samuel Orchard, labourer, of 77, Bove Town, Glastonbury, was summoned by William Hundy, rag and bone dealer, of Glastonbury, for assaulting and beating him on August 20th. Complainant stated that he called on the defendant on the date named to collect two shillings that he owed him for some goods he had purchased. They had some conversation and then Orchard attacked him and knocked him down. He received injuries which compelled him to go to a doctor and was incapacitated for some time. Defendant said that when Hundy came to him for the two shillings, he had no silver, and asked Hundy if he could give him change for a ten-shilling note. Hundy said he could not do so, and witness asked him to wait while he got change. Some words ensued, as Mundy did not want to wait, and then complainant struck Hundy with his fist. Jack Harris, of Mill Gate, Glastonbury, stated that he came along and saw the defendant knock Mundy down on the path.

WEST PENNARD'S GREAT DAY.

NEW HALL OPENED BY LORD BATH.

CHURCH ROOF DELETED.

A double reason for rejoicing was felt at West Pennard on the 26th of the week. The new hall, so generously erected as a memorial of her late husband, Mrs. Charles Mostyn, J.P., by Mrs. Mostyn, and of a cost of over two thousand pounds, was formally opened and conveyed to the parish, the Marquis of Bath, K.G., P.C., performing the duty that devolved on the church renewal fund had been wiped out before this ceremony. Extreme gratification was felt with the opening, and especially as it had been the hope of Mrs. Mostyn that it would be accomplished before the Hall was opened. Mrs. Mostyn has herself, though she is not a worshippess at the church, been a generous contributor to the opening of this new building. A description of the new building, and it was a surprise and delight to the many visitors on the occasion of the opening to find the new building so commodious, convenient and fully equipped for all likely parochial purposes, with many amenities and a most attractive appearance. The new hall has been met by a substantial grant from the Carnegie Trustees, a loan of £50 from the church, and a grant of £100 from the Marquis of Bath. The hall is capable of seating a couple of hundred people, and is fitted with a kitchen, cloak room for persons attending meetings and entertainments, and a room for the organist. All these amenities were fully tested on Thursday during the afternoon and evening. The organist, Mr. H. M. Mostyn, who opened the Hall, was received by the Vicar at the entrance, where a guard of honour of young ladies in the parish was formed. The organist, Mr. H. M. Mostyn, who opened the Hall, was received by the Vicar at the entrance, where a guard of honour of young ladies in the parish was formed. The organist, Mr. H. M. Mostyn, who opened the Hall, was received by the Vicar at the entrance, where a guard of honour of young ladies in the parish was formed.

The Vicar of the parish, the Rev. T. H. Richards, occupied the chair at the opening. Mrs. Mostyn was there, of course, accompanied by her family and friends. Mr. H. M. Mostyn, and the Rev. Arthur Mostyn. Those connected with elementary schools will be present at the opening of the new hall. Mr. H. M. Mostyn, and the Rev. Arthur Mostyn. Those connected with elementary schools will be present at the opening of the new hall. Mr. H. M. Mostyn, and the Rev. Arthur Mostyn. Those connected with elementary schools will be present at the opening of the new hall.

Mr. James A. Brown. Recently adopted as prospective Liberal Candidate for the Wells Division. Mr. Brown, who left England last Friday for the United States, where he will represent Oxford University in a series of debates between members of the older English Universities and those of America, had a distinguished career at Oxford. He was president of the Union, and of the University Liberal Club. He is one of a number of young men who have been adopted as Liberal candidates in the West of England, e.g. Mr. Philip Hopkins in Bath, Mr. Elder Jones in the Chippenham Division, Mr. J. H. Bateman, Yeovil, and Mr. Norman Blake, Bridgwater.

Defendant said that this witness did not come along till the trouble was half over, and did not see the commencement of it. The Bench bound the defendant over to keep the peace and be of good behaviour for twelve months in his own recognisance of 45s.

LIGHTS OUT. Loftus Dean, of Coronation Villas, Wells Road, Glastonbury, a shoemaker, was summoned for failing to have the obligation of a red index plate illuminated in the Market Place on September 23rd. P.C. Dyer stated that he was on duty in the Market Place on the night in question and saw a car without lights on the opposite Mr. Comer's. He spoke to him and asked why he had no lights on. He replied that he had only just driven down, and thought he had the lights on.—Fined 10s.

TIED TO A LAMP POST. William Jones, farmer, of Sharpsham Gate farm, was summoned for causing an obstruction at Northford Bridge on October 21st by leaving a pony and cart there for a long and unobstructed time.—Francis Godfrey, of Northford dairy, stated that at 7.30 on the 21st of October he saw a pony and cart standing tied to a lamp post at Northford Bridge. The pony and cart were nearly across the road, and there were many people passing. P.C. Chapman stated that in consequence of a complaint he went to Northford Bridge at 11.30 and found the pony and cart obstructing the road as described by the last witness. He enquired and saw the defendant who admitted that he had left the pony and cart there. Defendant's story was that he had taken the pony and cart back to Mr. King, and told him he had brought it back. King took no notice, so he tied it up to the lamp post and left it for him.—Fined 5s.

BALTONSBOROUGH. A Whirl Drive in aid of the blind people of Somerset took place in the School on Friday evening, September 18th. Mr. G. Carr, duties of M.C., and showed much originality in the calling of trumps. There were eleven tables in play, and the prize winners were as follows:—Ladies—1st, Mrs. Cook; 2nd, Miss M. Atwell; 3rd, Miss D. Llewellyn; consolation, Miss G. Carr. 1st, Mr. G. Carr; 2nd, Mr. H. M. Mostyn; 3rd, Mr. J. Strickland; consolation, Mr. F. Rawley. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Allen, Mrs. Llewellyn, and Mr. B. Biss, and were served most efficiently. Generous subscriptions in cash and kind were given by the following:—Mrs. Allen, Mrs. Austin, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. R. Clapp, Mrs. Llewellyn, Mr. J. Farrant, Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Nutting, Toogood, Whitehead and Hart, Mr. Bowler and Mr. C. Hart. The money received from the sale of tickets, subscriptions, etc., amounted to £8 10s. 6d., and the only expense was 9s. 6d. for the hire of the South-western night bus, and for the cost of a net amount of £8 10s. has been forwarded to the Somerset Branch of the Hon. Organisation wishes to thank most heartily all those who with money, goods, or services contributed so generously to the success of the event.

To avoid weariness and illness To maintain health and fitness DRINK

Advertisement for OXO cubes. Text: 'with Milk if desired For perfect cooking and gravies add one or two OXO CUBES'. Includes an image of an OXO cube.

One fortifies and stimulates with the vital properties of fresh lean Beef. Used for many years by millions of people, young and old, in millions of homes.

chairman and in the report of the committee that that Hall stood there as a memorial to her late husband, Mrs. Charles Mostyn, J.P., by Mrs. Mostyn, and of a cost of over two thousand pounds, was formally opened and conveyed to the parish, the Marquis of Bath, K.G., P.C., performing the duty that devolved on the church renewal fund had been wiped out before this ceremony. Extreme gratification was felt with the opening, and especially as it had been the hope of Mrs. Mostyn that it would be accomplished before the Hall was opened. Mrs. Mostyn has herself, though she is not a worshippess at the church, been a generous contributor to the opening of this new building. A description of the new building, and it was a surprise and delight to the many visitors on the occasion of the opening to find the new building so commodious, convenient and fully equipped for all likely parochial purposes, with many amenities and a most attractive appearance. The new hall has been met by a substantial grant from the Carnegie Trustees, a loan of £50 from the church, and a grant of £100 from the Marquis of Bath. The hall is capable of seating a couple of hundred people, and is fitted with a kitchen, cloak room for persons attending meetings and entertainments, and a room for the organist. All these amenities were fully tested on Thursday during the afternoon and evening. The organist, Mr. H. M. Mostyn, who opened the Hall, was received by the Vicar at the entrance, where a guard of honour of young ladies in the parish was formed. The organist, Mr. H. M. Mostyn, who opened the Hall, was received by the Vicar at the entrance, where a guard of honour of young ladies in the parish was formed.

THE WEST PENNARD. He took interest in West Pennard, and gradually getting to know the people and their characters, and making them look to do for themselves. It was getting more difficult in these days to get people to do for themselves. It was getting more difficult in these days to get people to do for themselves. It was getting more difficult in these days to get people to do for themselves.

HINTS FROM HIS LORDSHIP. He had at first himself some little experience of those halls, and he knew they would find it a place both for recreation and enjoyment, and that he was quite seriously for their intellectual and social improvement. He would not suggest all the purposes for which it could be used, but he would suggest some of the most enjoyable and the most useful. He would suggest some of the most enjoyable and the most useful. He would suggest some of the most enjoyable and the most useful.

THE RURAL COMMUNITY COUNCIL. Miss B. Spencer, secretary of the Somerset Rural Community Council, who was introduced as one of the best authorities on the subject of village halls and activities, touched upon the village hall as a means of bringing the people together. She indicated how the hall could be used for dancing, classes and other social amusements, village drama, choral societies, and singing classes, lectures and other things in which the R.C.C. was always ready to give advice. There would be a good centre for Girl Guides and Boy Scout organisations, as well as other societies. Everybody in the village ought to have some interest in the work that they were doing. She indicated how the hall could be used for dancing, classes and other social amusements, village drama, choral societies, and singing classes, lectures and other things in which the R.C.C. was always ready to give advice.

MAJOR GARTON ON VILLAGE LIFE. Major J. A. Garton, of Pylle, High Sheriff of Somerset, alluding to the presence shown by the village hall as a means of bringing the people together. He indicated how the hall could be used for dancing, classes and other social amusements, village drama, choral societies, and singing classes, lectures and other things in which the R.C.C. was always ready to give advice.

THE CHILDREN. Lord Bath's first words were a suggestion that some of the younger generation whom he saw at the back of the Hall should come forward. He indicated how the hall could be used for dancing, classes and other social amusements, village drama, choral societies, and singing classes, lectures and other things in which the R.C.C. was always ready to give advice.

Sore Throats. Quickly relieved by rubbing on VICK'S VapoRub. NOW IMPROVED WHITE-STAINLESS.

them in that parish hall. He referred to the difficulties which sometimes arose in connection with such places, and urged them to avoid anything which would tend to interfere with its success. He seconded the vote of thanks. Mrs. Mostyn, who was received with the utmost appreciation, expressed her hope that the parish their gratitude to Mrs. Mostyn for having built that hall, and to the most distinguished noblemen in the county for having come so kindly to open it, giving up some of his most valuable time for the afternoon and evening. He indicated how the hall could be used for dancing, classes and other social amusements, village drama, choral societies, and singing classes, lectures and other things in which the R.C.C. was always ready to give advice.

Mr. H. Mostyn also briefly addressed the gathering at the invitation of the Chairman. He had arrived from a distance that day, and he did not expect to have to say anything. It was an unexpected pleasure to him to find that he had been in time for the opening, which he had not expected to be. They had in the town where he lived just another hall, and he had gone to another such ceremony there. But it was a very different hall to that, just the four walls. The hall had been erected, and now the people there had to pay for it, and to fit it up for use. He believed that hall would help the people of West Pennard to live happily and cheerily in a way that had not been possible before.

Mr. John Powell, the hon. secretary of the Hall committee, expressed his appreciation of the parish their gratitude to Mrs. Mostyn for having built that hall, and to the most distinguished noblemen in the county for having come so kindly to open it, giving up some of his most valuable time for the afternoon and evening. He indicated how the hall could be used for dancing, classes and other social amusements, village drama, choral societies, and singing classes, lectures and other things in which the R.C.C. was always ready to give advice.

HOUSE WARMING. The whole of the visitors present were invited to remain and inspect the hall and partake of a cup of tea. It was intimated that the parish their gratitude to Mrs. Mostyn for having built that hall, and to the most distinguished noblemen in the county for having come so kindly to open it, giving up some of his most valuable time for the afternoon and evening. He indicated how the hall could be used for dancing, classes and other social amusements, village drama, choral societies, and singing classes, lectures and other things in which the R.C.C. was always ready to give advice.

EDUCATIONAL. WELLS CATHEDRAL GRAMMAR SCHOOL. FOUNDED XII. CENTURY. GOVERNOR: THE DEAN AND CHAPTER. Head Master: Rev. A. F. RITCHIE, M.A., Cantab. One of the most ancient schools in England re-constituted in 1854. Recently extended and re-organized. Accommodating from 70 to 80 Boarders in two houses and 50 to 70 Day boys. Prepares for the Universities, the Professions and for Business. Preparatory School in separate building preparing for the Upper School and for Public Schools generally. Juvenile Classes under N.E.U. Mistresses. Full particulars may be obtained from the Secretary or the Headmaster.

HIGH SCHOOL FOR GIRLS, WELLS. Headmistress: MISS ETHEL BILES. Assisted by Fully Qualified Staff. DAY GIRLS AND BOARDERS RECEIVED. There is a PREPARATORY DEPARTMENT OPEN FOR BOYS from four to eight years of age.

MOVEMENT OF ANIMALS (RECORDS ORDER). The above Order provides that any person who moves or permits to be moved any cattle, sheep, goats or pigs to or from any premises shall keep a record in the form prescribed.

RECORD BOOKS. In the form prescribed by the Ministry of Agriculture and Fisheries. ON SALE, 6d. EACH. THE "GAZETTE OFFICE," HIGH STREET GLASTONBURY.

SOLIGNI. In Stock Everywhere.